NATO: Expansion and Division

By Spencer P. Boyer, James D. Lamond, 22nd March 2008

The US and other NATO members should not allow Greece or Russia to obstruct NATO expansion.

How Croatia and the US prevented genocide with 'Operation Storm'

By Marko Attila Hoare, 14th March 2008

The US should be proud of its role in preventing the genocide of European Muslims.

What is at stake in the struggle for Serbia?

By Marko Attila Hoare, 24th February 2008

With Russia trying to use Kosovo to split the EU and our global credibility at stake, it is imperative that we stand by democratic Serbia.

The EU must sign the SAA with Serbia as soon as possible

By A coalition of pro-democracy Serbian NGOs, 10th February 2008

Signing the SAA with Serbia is the only way for the EU to keep European prospects for Serbia open and prevent non-democratic forces from once again isolating the country.

Russia: The Milosevic Mold

By Nenad Pejic, 14th January 2008

Russia's President Putin's actions in curtailing liberty in his country are eerily reminiscent of tactics previously employed by Serbia's late and unlamented Slobodan Milosevic.

Italy's and Slovenia's bullying of Croatia sends a bad message to the

Balkans and the World

By Branko Salaj, 13th January 2008

The EU's support for Italian and Slovenian bullying of Croatia over the latter's Ecological and Fisheries Protection Zone threatens the EU's foremost applicant, and sends out a negative message to the Balkans and the world generally about EU dispute resolution.

The Hellenic tail must not wag the European dog

By Marko Attila Hoare, 31st December 2007

Greece and Cyprus are, over Macedonia, Serbia and Kosovo, pursuing policies motivated by nationalist concerns that are out of keeping with democratic values and counter to EU interests.

Untangling the Turkey - Iraqi Kurdistan - PKK triangle

By Marko Attila Hoare, 21st December 2007

Supporting Turkey's destructive anti-Kurdish policy in northern Iraq is not in our interests, yet we cannot disregard Turkey's legitimate concerns with regard to the PKK, nor ignore this dangerous conflict in such a critical area.

Rejecting false parallels: Why Kosovo is not South Ossetia (or Abkhazia or Transnistria or northern Cyprus...)

By Marko Attila Hoare, 28th November 2007

Kosovo's claim to independence is not equivalent to, and is much stronger than, those of other 'secessionist' territories to which it is frequently compared, such as Abkhazia, South Ossetia and Transnistria.

Europe's Balkan travesty - and how to fix it

By Edward P. Joseph, 27th November 2007

Through its obstructionism over Kosovo, Moscow is mounting a challenge to the EU's ability to decide the nature and pace of South East Europe's integration.
