Dr. Marko Attila Hoare

Section Director, European Neighbourhood

Marko Attila Hoare is a Reader at the Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences, Kingston University (London). He received his BA from the University of Cambridge in 1994 and his PhD from Yale University in 2000.

Hoare has been studying the history of South East Europe, in particular the former Yugoslavia, since 1993, and is intimately acquainted with the lands and peoples of Serbia, Croatia and Bosnia-Herzegovina. In the summer of 1995, he acted as translator for the aid convoy to the Bosnian town of Tuzla organised by Workers Aid, a movement of solidarity in support of the Bosnian people. In 1998-2001 he lived in Belgrade, and was resident there during the Kosovo War of 1999. As a journalist, he covered the fall of Milosevic in 2000. He worked as a Research Officer for the International Criminal Tribunal for the former Yugoslavia's Office of the Prosecutor in 2001, and participated in the drafting of the indictment of Slobodan Milosevic.

He is the author of How Bosnia Armed (Saqi, London, 2004), Genocide and Resistance in Hitler's Bosnia: The Partisans and the Chetniks, 1941-1943 (Oxford University Press, London, 2006) and The History of Bosnia-Herzegovina: From the Middle Ages to the Present Day (Saqi, London, 2007).
